

A close-up, horizontal view of the handle of a Makita power tool. The handle is primarily black with a teal-colored section on the left side. The word "Makita" is printed in white on the teal section. The black part of the handle features several ventilation slots and a textured grip. A metal shaft is visible extending from the right side of the handle. The background is a solid, light blue color.

Makita